POLITICAL

Political Structure	The 1977 Constitution provides for Tanzania to be a unitary, Presidential Republic based on multi-party parliamentary democracy, with the President, elected directly, being eligible for maximum two 5-year terms as the executive Head of State. The President is assisted by the Vice President, Prime Minister and the Council of Ministers. National Assembly [Bunge] has up to 325 members, 75 special women's representatives apportioned among the political parties based on their election results and 10 Presidential nominees. The ruling party, Chama Cha Mapinduzi [CCM or Revolutionary Party], formed by the merger of Tanganyika African National Union (TANU) and Afro-Shirazi Party in 1977 has remained in power since independence. There are 15 other registered political parties, the leading among them being the Chama Cha Demokrasia na Maendeleo (CHADEMA) and the Civic Union Front [CUF] are the main opposition parties. Zanzibar has its own Constitution, President, House of Representatives and Flag. The judiciary has evolved from the British model and is largely independent.
